LONDON, May 15.—Definite promises to keep step with Britain's vast rearmament program to restore the might of the empire have been brought to the imperial conference by virtually all dominion representatives, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, International News Service learned today.

Most of the dominion representatives have informed Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that while they are reserving independence of judgment in the event of war, they are prepared to co-operate fully in strengthening the empire's far-flung defenses.

Air Base In Canada?
The spirit of co-operation shown by the dominions in informal conversations held behind the scenes of the coronation festivities has led the British government to believe the way is now clear to make the empire the most powerful political unit in the world today.

Britain has proposed that one of the first contributions the dominions should make toward empire armaments is establishment of powerful air bases in South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

It is understood the British also intend to sound out Mackenzie King on the possibility of establishing a powerful air base in Canada on Canada's Pacific coast. The British are convinced they must show a stronger attitude in the Pacific to protect their interests in China.

The admiralty feels a strong air base in Canada would enhance Britain's prestige in the Orient, especially in Japan.

Merrill And Lambie Say Atlantic Flights; "All In The Day's Work"

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 15.—Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, their gallant two-way trans-Atlantic "coronation flight" now another chapter in the history of American conquest of the air, prepared today to return to their comparatively "humdrum" jobs, the routine of air transport between New York and Miami, Fla.

Merrill, still a little red-eyed after 24 hours and 20 minutes at the controls of the "Daily Express," modestly characterized the two-way ocean hop as "all in the day's work" and added:

"There was nothing unusual about this flight except that we had to do a lot of instrument and blind flying. We probably did more instrument flying than has ever been done before. We were in the clouds all the way over and back."

Then he added with a grin: "Give us a few hours' rest and we'll be ready to get back to our jobs."

Lambie, drawing handsome youth who acted as co-pilot on the flight to London and return, declared:

"We never had an uneasy moment. We had a good plane and everything worked perfectly. We had more sandwiches than we could eat and plenty of conversation—mostly about when we should sight land."

Life Tenure Of Federal Court
Judges Target

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A constitutional amendment, taking the life tenure of office from federal district judges, was being considered today by members of the senate judiciary committee as a judicial reform distinct from President Roosevelt's supreme court plan.

The issue may be raised when the committee resumes its sessions Monday. There was a hint, though, that action on it would be postponed until after the senate reaches a decision on the high court plan.

The move developed from senatorial dissatisfaction with the way some federal judges conduct their courts and general reluctance on capitol hill to impeach jurists. Despite complaints against literally hundreds of judges throughout the government's history, only nine have been brought to trial before the senate and of these, only four were impeached.

President Considers Legislation To Prevent Labor Abuse Of Power

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

(Copyright 1937)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Roosevelt is considering legislation imposing definite, legal responsibility upon labor as a means of preventing possible abuse of the vast power granted labor by law.

This was revealed today by presidential advisers as the administration's legislative program for the remainder of the session of congress was outlined.

Mr. Roosevelt was represented as believing that labor will use its "new found power" with discretion, but that the obligation of maintaining contracts should be imposed upon labor by law, just as employers are required by law to bargain collectively with workers.

The proposed legislation, still in the tentative stage, may be included in general "substitute NRA" legislation, embracing minimum wages, maximum hours and fair trade practices. It is also possible that it may be included in amendments to the anti-trust laws.

Two presidential messages are now planned by Mr. Roosevelt. They are:

Message outlining national power policy, including development of TVA and other existing projects, and development of new projects for power, navigation and flood control. Message expected in near future.

A wage and hour message, discussing also fair trade practices and the obligations of labor in return for the guarantee of collective bargaining given by the Wagner Labor Act. Time of submission depends on progress of supreme court enlargement fight.

Other Independents

PITTSBURGH STRIKES QUICKLY ENDED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 15.—As more than 30,000 steel workers trooped back to their jobs under strike settlements, the executive committee of the steel workers organizing committee met here today to adopt the program by which it expects to force four major independent companies employing more than 160,000 men to sign CIO contracts.

Agreements for elections under the Wagner act quickly ended the strikes of more than 25,000 Jones & Laughlin Steel company employees at Pittsburgh and Aliquippa and more than 5,000 Pittsburgh Steel company workers at Monessen and Aliport.

Some Trouble.

J. & L. picket lines in Pittsburgh quickly dispersed as the brawny men of the mills went home and donned working clothes, but at Aliquippa women and children remained in line and jeered and hurled missiles at the non-striking as they emerged from the mill. Three men returning to work there were beaten by pickets apparently because they were believed to have anti-SWOC sympathies.

Philip Murray, chairman of the SWOC, which operates as the recruiting agency for John L. Lewis' CIO, termed both strike settlements "complete victories." The election at J. & L. will be held on next Thursday but no date for the Pittsburgh Steel election was immediately fixed.

As a result of the two victories, Murray said sole collective bargaining rights will be demanded of the four other independents, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Crucible Steel. Previously, the SWOC has been content with bargaining rights for its members only.

(International News Service)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 15.—Three states were in a mad scramble today seeking the life of 23-year-old Lester Brockelhurst, murder-minded Bible student, to atone for ruthless killings he admits committing within their borders.

Meanwhile, the Angeli-looking slayer sat in his cell, blaming his plight on a world that didn't give him a break.

"Then sent me to prison the first misstep I made," he wailed. "Other fellows get probation but I got 12 months of hell. I decided, when I got out, to even the score."

Three Murders
Brockelhurst's method of evening the score was murder in Illinois, Arkansas and Texas. But he denied he slew in cold blood.

His pretty partner in crime, Bernice Felton, alternately slept or sobbed convulsively in her fourth-floor cell in the Dutchess county jail.

Police said they planned to leave the 23-year-old former Sunday school teacher and his companion alone with their "conscience" over the week-end pending a hearing on Monday.

Arrested by a suspicious state trooper, Brockelhurst amazed officers by telling them he had shot either from behind or without warning, an Illinois tailor, a Texas tavern owner, and a Texas farmer of Little Rock, Arkansas in whose car they were riding when arrested.

PUSHES COURT ISSUE BATTLE

President Is For Showdown

Leaders Inform Roosevelt He Is In For Biggest Fight Of Career

NO COMPROMISE IS ORDER GIVEN

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Congress stood advised today that President Roosevelt wants a full showdown on his supreme court issue.

During the first 24 hours he was back in the White House from his Texas vacation, the president learned from congressional leaders that he was in for the fight of his career. His answer was an order to press the original proposal to a vote—quoting Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, "without adjustment or compromise."

"No Compromise"

Mr. Roosevelt turned a deaf ear to suggestions he accept a compromise calling for two additional justices on the supreme court, instead of six as in the Administration Bill.

The president and his political lieutenants were understood to be banking heavily on the fact next year brings another congressional election campaign. In the last three, most of the Democrats running for both house and senate rode on the presidential coat-tails with platforms pledging full support of Mr. Roosevelt's policies.

Although outside polls indicate the president's court measure may be beaten in the senate, his advisers insist he has the narrow margin of at least two to four votes in his favor.

Warm days with bright sunlight; the ideal time to see song birds. But sometimes when the days are dull with misty skies, there will wing into view birds of beauty that will catch one's throat with their sheen.

To Henry Grossman of Stanton street, the dull gloom of Friday for a time, had a bit of sunshine as he watched a flock of wild Canaries. Their golden bodies seemed much brighter as they flitted about some trees in his yard—like to look back into the past when wild flowers were plentiful, and see the bog-rose, cranes fly, and whip-poor-will shoes, the latter, with color of purest gold, which seem to draw the insects into the flowers.

spacious banquet-hall, all these wild blooms were shy and exquisite in their beauty, and it seemed as the approached them they gave the impression of being ready to fly away frightened.

Baldwin Chorus Sings At Almira Home For Evening

Baldwin chorus of the Highland U. P. church accompanied by a number of guests, went to the Almira Home Thursday evening and entertained the residents with an evening of old-fashioned songs.

In the absence of Mrs. Helen Tingham the regular accompanist, Mrs. Beatrice Muder had graciously consented to preside at the piano.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsey gave two readings, "Caleb's Courtship" and "The District School," much to the interest of her listeners. Another special feature was the playing of several piano numbers by a resident of the home, Miss Hallie Leslie.

Miss Leslie also accompanied the chorus during the singing of "Silver Threads Among the Gold." At the close the group sang, "Little Old Lady" and "God Be With You."

Each lady of the home was presented with a potted plant as souvenirs of the occasion.

Attack On Court Plan Spurs Interest Locally In Dr. Villard's Visit

Wide-spread comment on Dr. Oswald Garrison Villard's recent attack on President Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of the Supreme Court has increased interest in the noted editor's appearance here on Monday night when he will address a public meeting at 8 o'clock at the Field Club, according to Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, chairman of the New Castle Peace Committee.

Dr. Villard, noted liberal leader and editor Emeritus of The Nation, will speak here as a part of the program of the Emergency Peace Campaign now being carried on throughout the country.

Until recently an ardent advocate of New Deal measures, Dr. Villard this week published an incisive denunciation of Roosevelt's leadership at the present time. A part of his editorial quoted by Leslie Eichel in The News Friday said, "Meanwhile it seems true that, thanks in part to his court bill, the grip of the president on Congress is weaker than at any previous time during his presidency. He is steadily losing support."

Dr. Villard who has been in public life for more than twenty-five years will be remembered in New Castle as the author of "John Brown, a Biography Fifty Years After," which was widely discussed here several years ago. Since retiring as active editor and publisher of The Nation, Dr. Villard has been devoting much of his time to the cause of peace.

All citizens of New Castle are invited to hear him at the Field Club on Monday.

UNION GIRL RESERVES

The Union Girl Reserves had their final meeting in the auditorium of Union high school Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. After the meeting was called to order by Ruth Buchanan, president, Marjorie Merchant read the minutes. Wanda Thatcher read the minutes of the last meeting after which some time was spent in discussing final details of the trip the Girl Reserves will take to Pittsburgh next Wednesday.

Dorothy Smith, chairman of program, then introduced the Reverend Charles H. Hagadorn who spoke to the girls on "Tests of Truth." Rev. Hagadorn gave as the four tests of truth the following: 1. Are you willing to do openly the thing you propose to do? 2. What will its effect upon you? 3. What will be its effect upon other people? 4. What will be its effect on God's kingdom on earth?

Mr. Hagadorn advised the girls to set a goal in life towards which they would strive, a goal for which they would be willing to sacrifice. He said that keeping their eyes continuously on this goal would enable them to walk with firm step on a path which, as it goes forward, would not waver.

Officials of both Republic and Sheet & Tube, here and in Cleveland, refused comment.

Observers here were inclined to believe that the possibility of a strike was steadily growing in view of last night's developments and Philip Murray's Pittsburgh statement that strikers in Republic and Sheet & Tube were "sure to come" unless a contract for all workers was granted.

INFANT WELFARE EVENT MONDAY

Amateur Night in the form of a gay and colorful children's function, has been arranged by the Infant Welfare chairman of Hadassah, Mrs. J. Silverman and her committee. The event will be held Monday evening, May 17, at 8 o'clock, in the assembly room of Temple Israel.

No ingredient for a merry evening has been omitted and the result should be remembered in Hadassah's calendar.

There will be a movie in three reels, depicting Palestinian scenes with special emphasis on Youth Aliyah activities. There will be a general Major Bowes, none other than Irvin Grossman, and a fine accompanist, Mrs. Leonard Reinhardt.

There will be music by a youthful orchestra composed of members' sons, piano solos, dances, readings and other musical novelties. These will be presented by pupils of well known local instructors, and ever so much more entertainment.

A treat will be given every child present. Admission for the entire families of Hadassah members and friends will be by milk bag, infant welfare calendars, or money equivalent.

All of Hadassah's many activities are important, and essential, but it is agreed that Infant Welfare work is most appealing, when it is known that babies and small children—benefited by Hadassah's 23 health welfare stations scattered throughout Palestine.

A constant stream of immigration necessitates adjustments to new climatic condition, and Hadassah's contribution to Palestine, is strong, healthy children who will eventually be strong, healthy adults.

MERRILL'S FEAT

In successfully making a round trip flight to London with the object of bringing coronation films to this side days ahead of other means of transportation, Dick Merrill has made it possible for Americans and Canadians to see the coronation as it was enacted long before it would otherwise have been possible.

True, some pictures of the coronation came by cable and were printed in the newspapers. But Merrill's pictures are the authentic article and can be shown on the screen besides, something that has not yet been attempted with cable pictures.

In the last year Merrill has crossed the Atlantic four times by plane. The flight provides another impressive demonstration of the great skill of Merrill and his co-pilot Jack Lambie, and of the increasing perfection and power of the modern plane. It serves also to make trans-Atlantic flying an achievement which is swiftly assuming a commonplace status, although one which makes exacting demands upon human courage.

ONE POLITICAL FAMILY'S LIFE TO END

By the middle of this month a long and eventful chapter in American politics will have closed. For the first time in some 40 years, there will not be a Bryan in public office or campaigning for office.

William Jennings Bryan began the family's activities, back in the '90s. A little later his brother, Charles W. Bryan, took up the torch, serving three terms as governor of Nebraska and two as mayor of Nebraska's capital city, Lincoln, besides running for the United States Senate and serving as Democratic vice presidential candidate. Still later, the Great Commoner's daughter, Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, entered public life.

The elder Bryan is dead now, Mrs. Rohde is back in private life—and in mid-May Charles W. Bryan finishes his term as mayor of Lincoln. A historic chapter in American political life is coming to a close.

LOVE, HONOR—AND PAY

Now that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has sponsored the idea of a salary for every housewife who stays at home and thereby forfeits a possible income elsewhere, a sort of showdown on this relatively modern argument seems to loom on the North-by-Northeast horizon.

Only a few weeks ago Mrs. Laura Chassell Toops unbundled herself at Columbus, Ohio, with a plea for a six-hour day for home-makers and for apprentices to help them out. Our First Lady takes an eight-hour day would be reasonable, and in a radio interview takes up the pay of the perennial hours-wages supplication, long familiar in other fields, but new in this.

To her the woman who as wife or daughter has to keep the home fires burning merits a regular salary, as do her sisters who operate a machine in a factory. And if she assumes that wives in general want specified salaries, no less and no more each Saturday, there remain only two major problems: Persuading husbands to hand over a definite sum weekly for spend-as-you-like purposes, and fixing the amount of this sum in each individual case.

Yet the men may well tremble in their purses if wives organize for collective bargaining. There are no better bargainers in the world!

ROMANTIC CHURCH

When Dr. W. A. McKeever started his "lovers church" in Oklahoma City on May 9, he was successful—in a way. But it was a one-sided success.

His idea was to promote romance, matrimony and general interest in life, and incidentally invigorate the church, by bringing young men and women together on Sunday morning. Or maybe it was Sunday evening, a grand time for such purposes a generation or two ago. When the time came for services to begin, there were in that place of worship 150 self-possessed girls and six bashful men, the latter huddled furtively back in a corner near the door.

That's where most of the young fellows used to wait in the old days. It was a strategic position, a vantage point from which to catch the girls from up front as they demurely filed out at the end of the service. But the young bloods in those days were more confident. These fellows were plainly scared.

The minister was hopeful, though. "We've got a good-looking bunch of men in that corner," he assured the feminine contingent, "and more of them will come in, ashamed of themselves for not having come earlier. You women get the idea that men haven't got love in their hearts, but that's wrong. They have—but they hate to admit it." Further returns from that place of worship will be awaited with interest.

The Parent Problem

SCHOOL ACCIDENTS

From a recent issue of Chinook, the high school paper of West Seattle, we learn, according to a recent poll in all rooms of that school, that:

Five hundred sixty-nine, or 33 per cent of the students in West Seattle have been in automobile accidents.

One hundred fifty-nine, or 9 per cent of these students were slightly injured in these accidents.

Thirty-one, or 2 per cent of the students in automobile accidents were seriously injured.

Eight hundred thirty-nine, or 50 per cent of West Seattle's students have parents or close relatives who have been in automobile accidents.

Three hundred sixty-two, or 21 per cent of these parents, brothers or sisters, were slightly injured in accidents.

Two hundred forty-nine, or 14 per cent of the students, had parents, close relatives or friends who were killed in automobile accidents.

One hundred thirteen, or 7 per cent of all the persons in accidents were pedestrians.

Six hundred twenty-seven, or 36 per cent of all the students in West Seattle know how to drive.

Two hundred ninety-three, or 17 per cent, of these have a driver's license.

These are appalling facts. I wonder what a similar poll of your high school would show.

Crazy For Speed
How much does the craze for speed cause accidents? Suppose the members of the family would covenant together to hold themselves to a certain maximum of speed. I know one family that pledged to one another not to exceed 50 miles on the highway, and I understand that they are sticking to their pledge. They say this limit greatly reduces tensions on a long trip.

How can any one so forget his obligation to his fellowman as to drive after he has been drinking? The host and hostess who put on a drinking party should feel responsible for seeing their guests home safe and without danger to others on the way. Perhaps the police department will eventually have to provide taxicabs for these returning from such parties, for the safety of the rest of us. B. The road-house parties? In one city I understand, the police try to make it generally known that anyone who feels he is too nearly drunk to drive will be taken home free of charge.

And the hit-skip driver! How low he must be in the scale of morality! Whereas we might have some sympathy for the person seized by emotional panic, who drives on, how is he to be pardoned for not returning later? We need to change our laws concerning the hit-skip driver, making it a much less serious offense if he reports within 12 hours, say, and much more serious if he does not return at all, when he is a real or potential murderer. Then we need more judges with spines! Would it not be well for the school and Sunday school to discuss the moral problems related to the hit-skip driver?

I . . . I . . . I

IF I HAD a million dollars—I'd start spending it.

I like happy endings, in life; I don't insist on them in books.

I knew a man whose dominant trait was a cheerful melancholy, which seems self-contradictory but isn't; suddenly he became happy almost bumpless, and then he wasn't nearly as likeable as before.

When dogs bark at me I let them bark. . . I don't know how to stop them.

Personally, I consider exercise over-rated. . . I have the same opinion of cold showers.

I like yachting. . . I mean I like to sit on solid ground and watch the little yachts leaping from wave to wave.

It's fun listening to a man talk about his work, but not nearly so interesting when he starts talking about what he thinks.

I've made many a wish, but I've never wished that any baby I liked could remain always a baby. . . . To me that's a horrible thought.

Once I tickled a baby and she lost her breakfast—all over me. . . . Since then I have tickle no babies.

I've been talking for months about getting rid of the lively fox terrier, who chases automobiles and tracks mud around the house. . . . But I can't seem to make my stern resolutions stick when he wags his tail and decides to be a nice dog again.

TEXAS CERTAINLY LOOMS BIG IN THE EYES OF THIS TEXAN

The greatness of Texas is never lost sight of by Mr. R. E. L. Knight, a prominent Texas citizen. In a speech he explained Texas thus:

"You can take Texas and convert it into the form of a huge giant lay it upon the bosom of Europe and with its head reposing upon the mountains of Norway, with London resting in one palm and Warsaw in the other, it could easily stretch its gigantic length down through the Kingdom of Denmark over the Empire of Germany and across Northern Italy, and bathe its ponderous feet in the blue waters of the Mediterranean Sea."

In addition, the Bible school and church were equipped with new hymn books, a mimeograph machine was purchased, extensive repairs were made to the church, and all current expenses were paid.

May 16, 1860—The Republican national convention met in Chicago on William H. Seward's 59th birthday, with Seward the most conspicuous candidate for the presidential nomination. On the first ballot he got the most votes, 173, to his nearest rival's 102. A darkhorse eventually won the nomination—Abraham Lincoln.

Curiously, the Democratic convention that year also opened on the birthday of its most conspicuous candidate, Stephen A. Douglas. He didn't get the nomination of the united party.

May 16, 1891—John Banvard, native New Yorker, died, leaving behind him the most gigantic art achievement in American history. Gigantic in size, rather than merit. On an especially woven canvas three miles long, mounted on revolving drums, he spent five years painting a panorama of the whole of the 1,200 mile Mississippi river, after floating from headwaters to mouth in a skiff, sketching. As "the largest painting in the world," it attracted large crowds in this country and Europe; even Queen Victoria went to see it.

May 16 Among State Histories: 1866—President Johnson vetoed the bill to admit Colorado to the Union. 1866—Congress authorized the first nickel coinage. Actually the 5c piece of today contains three times as much copper as nickel. 1874—Mills river, reservoir burst, causing flood that inundated three Massachusetts towns and killed 144. 1881—Both of New York's senators, Conkling and Platt, resigned to protest over president's failure to consult them on filling state jobs. 1919—Three U. decline later. But ask businessmen in your home town how many of them are willing to deflate somewhat? That is exactly what putting the brakes on by the government will mean.

How many, did you say?

RELIEF
Relief expenditures will continue large. In fact, they are likely to be larger, if there is to be a recession in other spending this coming fiscal year. Either that, or there will be riots of severe character, and many congressmen will not be re-elected in 1938. People will not starve willingly with plenty around them. The relief question may end up with a national non-partisan relief agency. It will become permanent, if established. It will be found impossible to turn relief back to the states or the cities. Only the federal government has the organizing power—and adequate taxing power—to meet this tremendous problem. But, of course, a non-partisan commission will be no solution. The problem requires a major operation, not a mere homeopathic treatment.

The fairy tale of "Cinderella" was realized last evening by a number of "would-be Cinderellas" at the party held in the First M. E. church by the George R. Borden class. SPACE VEGETABLES FOR PROPER GROWTH

Each vegetable crop requires proper spacing of plants to produce good yields of high quality. Some timely suggestions for the early vegetables are offered.

Onion sets should be small but firm; one-half inch in diameter is desirable. Plant the set so that it is one inch under ground. One to two inches apart for green onions and 3 to 4 inches for mature onions are correct spacings. Onion plants of the Sweet Spanish type should be set 4 to 5 inches apart and midway between the root and the bud in depth.

Peas planted early on heavy soils are covered about 1/2 inches. The depth increases with later plantings and lighter soils. From 12 to 14 plants to a foot of row are desirable.

Spinach seed is hardy and should be sown early for best results. Several thinnings are desirable if the stand is heavy. The thinning may be used for food. The plants eventually should stand six inches apart. If the stalks go to seed early it may be due to variety, late seeding, or a thick stand.

Radishes are seeded one-half inch deep and thinned to 1 or 2 inches apart.

Beets have compound seeds which means that several plants may develop from one seed. It is necessary to thin this crop so that the plants ultimately will stand 3 to 4 inches apart. The seeds are planted one-half inch deep.

Carrots and lettuce commonly are sown to thickly. These seeds require only a slight covering, about one-fourth inch. The carrots should be thinned to stand 2 or 3 inches apart, and the lettuce eventually should be spaced 6 inches for loose-leaf varieties and 10 inches for heading varieties.

if only Pennsylvania farmers were to supply the egg needs of consumers in this state.

Thirty states supplied eggs to Philadelphia last year. Only 17 per cent came from Pennsylvania farms. Only one-fourth of Philadelphia's eggs came from Pennsylvania and the near-by states of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Delaware.

Pennsylvania supplied 5.3 per cent of the eggs sold in New York City last year. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York combined supplied 22.3 per cent. Twelve and one-half per cent of the dressed poultry receipts in New York City for 1936 came from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York.

Opportunities for expanding the poultry industry in Pennsylvania lie very largely in increased production of quality eggs and quality poultry meat for the eastern markets.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER NOW MAY DRESS ALIKE

Mothers, would you like to look girlish? If you are still slender and have a fairly good figure, why not take advantage of the latest mode in fashion by dressing like your daughter?

Many women complain that most of the styles seem to be made for the young folk, says Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative. But if one studies them carefully it is plain to see that many of these styles are just as suitable for mother as for daughter.

Slim, princess line dresses are flattering to both young and old alike. Tailored suits in soft becoming colors make interesting mother and daughter twins. Perky detachable collars are kind to slender hips, whether on a young thing who is tall for her age or a slender modern mother. Bolero jackets on dresses are a boon to the women with full hips, and are also both young and up-to-date. Swagger coats are suitable for all ages and practically all figures.

If mother has a becoming hair-cut and clean-cut features even these "crazy" new pill box and flower pot hats can be just as chic on her well coiffed head as on daughter's sleek shining one.

So—let's not hear any more moaning over "styles are all for the young people." Wear them yourself and be young with your daughter. You'll both enjoy it.

CONSUMING PUBLIC, DON'T BE MISLED

Food Prices Will Not Be Increased In Individually Owned and Operated Food Stores as a Result of the Chain Store Act

(This Act Passed the Senate Wednesday Evening, May 12, 1937)

LET'S FACE THE FACTS

It was brought out at The Public Hearing before the State Senate recently at Harrisburg, that the amount of Tax per Dollar Sale would be so small that it would be utterly impossible for the Chain Stores to pass it on to the Consumer.

Furthermore, Chains admit they have no monopoly on Chain Store Methods of distribution, and that many wide-awake individual retail Food Merchants, co-operating with their modern Wholesale Suppliers, sell groceries at prices comparable to prices in Chain Stores giving the same service. By this they mean, The Progressive Individual Food Merchant has Volume purchasing power, modern stores and Cash and Carry prices.

Countering the arguments of the chains against the bill, Governor Earle in a recent message to the Legislature blasted "absentee ownership" of many chain stores operated in Pennsylvania.

"The chain stores of Pennsylvania, which annually take millions of dollars from the pockets of our citizens—a large part of which goes to absentee owners in New York and elsewhere outside the State—are quite able to absorb the entire tax without adding one cent to the housewife's bill," he declared.

"Six of the 12 officials of this chain last year received salaries of $100,000 each—and those six salaries would almost pay the chains share of the tax.

"An even more interesting fact about this particular chain is that nearly every cent of profit goes to one family—and that family does not live in Pennsylvania."

The real reason why the chains are using the old bugaboo of higher prices to fight the tax is, as the Governor pointed out, that they cannot pass the tax along to the customer.

JUST REMEMBER

The ballyhoo that food prices will have to advance if this bill is passed is utterly incorrect. Contrary to the statement of the Chain Stores, the individual tax burden will be eased by a shifting of the burden to those who are best able to pay—the corporate chains.

Let the Chains Advance Prices According to Their Threat

FAIRLAWN PRICES WILL NOT ADVANCE

NEW YORK EDDIES
TURNING TO EDDIES

By O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK, May 15.—Purely personal piffle: Suggestion for a review title: "Dit Done!"—meaning "Say you!" Top radio drool: Those Junior G-Man skits. My wife never misses naming a hit song the first time she hears it. Stage show I enjoyed most this year: "Excursion." Spook stuff: An anonymous clairvoyant in Colorado for five years has been sending me predictions about my personal life that have come true. You learn from a motor trip to Willingboro, N. J., that 42 duPonts are listed in the phone book. Natives say: "All the duPonts are hard workers." Stay home, write travel stuff and grow rich: Frank Sullivan has made some nice chunks writing about imaginary visits to Hollywood, Paris, etc. And historians say one of the better descriptions of Venezuela was written by James Jeffrey Roche, who had never been there. For real Broadway color: Lindy's at the dinner hour. Cub reporter thrill: Coming upon Alice Roosevelt Longworth smoking a cigarette in the garden of the Longworth home in Cincinnati. All the Eddies in New York have of a sudden become Eddys, for goodness sakes!

Only musician I ever heard to make a mandolin orchestra entertaining: Dave Apollon. Some years ago at a gallery I saw a painting, "At the Ferry," which I have long coveted, but dealers never heard of it. The Ritz Carleton once had a patron who ate a chilled grape fruit salad at 3 o'clock every morning. He claimed it kept his weight at normal, although he could eat what he pleased during the day. Grand advertising psychology: The air lines admitting that people are becoming afraid to fly and showing them how comparatively safe it is. Nothing was ever gained by evasion, save a lack of confidence. Movie disillusionment: The odds are 100,000 to 1 against a movie extra becoming a great star. After hearing most of the recent talkie tunes, one has a new appreciation for the supremacy of Irving Berlin. Prediction: Wynne Murray of "Babes in Arms" will be the next Kate Smith of the radio.

Dead ringer for Sam Bernard in "The Rich Mr. Hoggendine": Sam Rosoff all duded up in riding clothes for a canter in Central Park. For 21 years I have averaged writing 8,500 words a week. Voice: "Why not call it a day?" No columnist ever created a character to equal Don Marquis' "The Old Soak." The most futile hour of the day—between 6 and 7 in the evening. Tempus fugit: In a children's party for a group around 12 years of age not one had ever heard of Mary Pickford. Most accomplished amateur magician: Hamish McLauren, the writer. Unforgettable dishes: Chicken hash at Dinty Moore's, ham steak in pineapple juice at the Colony and pressed duck at Tour d'Argent in Paris.

My father always slept with a 44 revolver under his pillow and my maternal grandfather racked a loaded shotgun over the kitchen door. And neither would have killed a house fly. I once sat an hour in the rain in the Bois de watch Edith Wharton drive by. Disraeli interests me as much as any figure in English history. My wife recently came upon a rejected love story manuscript of mine and began reading it to company. She read this much when I fled: "Elizabeth's gaze met his in the eloquence of silence. Long black lashes veiled her eyes, the lips he had so long sought slightly parted, she quivered and with a quick catch in her breath rushed toward him..." When I returned they were still laughing. No person I know can get so incensed over political muddling as Percy Crosby. I have never heard anybody in the Bronx talk like, well, say Gregory Ratoff. Prettily named rural highway: Saw Mill River Road.

H. T. Webster, the cartoonist, and Richard Richard Watts, Jr., the dramatic critic, now on the same morning paper, were both born in Parkersburg, W. Va., but never met until recently. The first important person I interviewed in New York was Clyde Fitch, the playwright, whose kindness will never be forgotten. He gave me a story that saved a job I badly needed.

Few forthright artists have mucked-up their careers so completely as John Barrymore. Favorite tree: Magnolia in bloom. I can listen to Broadway phonies by the hour. No class talks so entertainingly. Albert Payson Terhune and Gelett Burgess can quote limericks all evening and never run out. I know a great industrialist who will go no place on Wednesday night where he cannot hear Fred Allen's broadcast. Greatest orchestra improvement of the year—Abe Lyman's. It was my task as a Ziegfeld press agent to phone Marilyn Miller her first husband, Frank Carter, had been killed in a motor accident. Most alert of the hotel press agents: The Waldorf's Ted Saucier. Royal faux pas: In saying farewell to an English duke at a dinner party Harry Silvey murmured: "Good night, your Dukeship." (Copyright 1937, McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

INDIAN TREATY HOUSE

Do you know that the stone house in which Conrad Weiser held treaty meetings with the Indians is still standing at the west end of Stouchsburg, Berks County? The original stone building in which Conrad Weiser, the state's official Indian interpreter and peace-maker, held meetings with the Indians, is still intact. The present owner, however, made extensive renovations and beautified the grounds. Conrad Weiser's home, now Weiser Park, was two miles east of this place. Stouchsburg is situated on Route 422.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Sugar Causes Big Argument

Big Benefactor Under Old AAA Says There's Not Enough Sugar In Country

TOO MUCH, SAYS FEDERAL BUREAU

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Clarence R. Bittling of the United States Sugar Corporation was in Washington recently fighting legislation to reward his company for keeping down sugar production.

President Bittling's company grows cane in the Florida Everglades. While the AAA plan of crop control was still operative, before the supreme court outlawed it as unconstitutional, the corporation was a beneficiary of the rule under which the government paid good money to agriculture for not planting or for plowing under. It was a big beneficiary, too—to the tune of about $1,250,000. There was quite a bit of talk relative to the size of the money it received from the federal treasury.

Well, the supreme court, as previously remarked, knocked out the law. Now an attempt is being made to revive it, in a fashion to hold constitutional water. And President Bittling, whose company scooped in the $1,250,000 or thereabouts, is in arms against it.

"HOPELESSLY UNECONOMIC"
"You may say," he agreed, "that I ought to be sent to some institution for the mentally unbalanced. All the same, such a system is hopelessly uneconomic."

"The theory is that there is overproduction. There isn't, until everyone has more than he wants of everything, and that time hasn't arrived yet—nor ever will, in all probability."

"But assume that a reduction in certain outputs does advance prices of those commodities. Thereupon consumer capacity to absorb them shrinks. With the shrinkage in demand, prices slump again. Then there must be further restriction of output; still higher prices; still less consumption, with correspondingly re-declining prices; more restriction upon output; higher prices; less consumption; lowered prices; so on indefinitely."

"Low prices, but a huge consumption, with small profits, but lots of them, is the natural law of this era."

WHAT OPPONENTS SAY

Off-hand it may seem as if Bittling should be permitted to go the limit—raising all the sugar he is able to on his cane plantation in Florida's Everglades, and selling it as cheaply as possible to American consumers.

Nevertheless, opponents of this policy do have an argument on their side.

The essence of it is this: Sugar is an "uneconomic" crop in the United States, considering the country as a whole. We haven't the right kind of soil or climate, generally speaking, to grow enough of it to go around. Not nearly enough; only 20 to 30 per cent.

Now, should that kind of an industry be ALLOWED to expand?

AN EXAMPLE

To exaggerate a bit, take bananas. We know we can't raise bananas here. We might raise a few bunches under glass, but not enough to signify.

Thus, what of it, if we restrict our banana industry?

We can, however, produce enough sugar to produce some little impression—but not enough to make it much of a national industry. At least, so the restrictionists say.

We must import seven or eight-tenths of our supply anyway. That is agreed on all hands. Expand as we may, we cannot overcome that.

TRADE INVOLVED

Now Cuba, illustratively, is a tremendous sugar-producing republic, and its principal market is in the United States.

Since we need Cuba's sugar and Cuba needs many of our products, which it can't produce, an excellent opportunity is afforded for the two of us to swap goods back and forth. But as we produce more sugar, taking correspondingly less from Cuba, Cuba can buy just that much less from the United States.

That is damaging to our international trade—a federal matter, which congress is entitled to regulate. It is not an intra-state proposition, ruled out of consideration by the federal supreme court.

If we had plenty of domestic sugar, as we have wheat and corn, it would be a different thing.

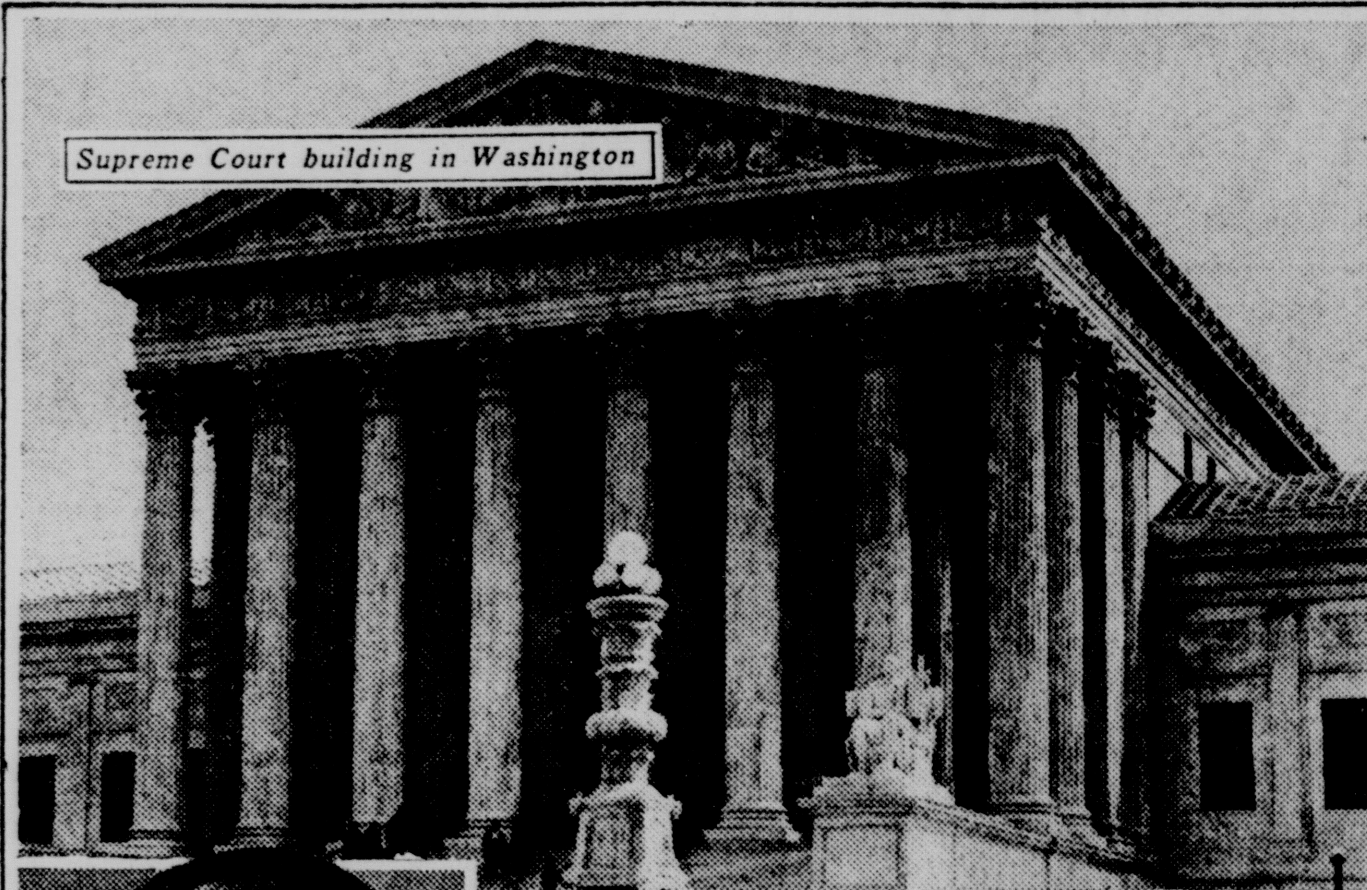

SUGAR MAN'S ANSWER

But we haven't and can't imaginably have sufficient sugar (a military as well as a culinary necessity) to go around except by importation.

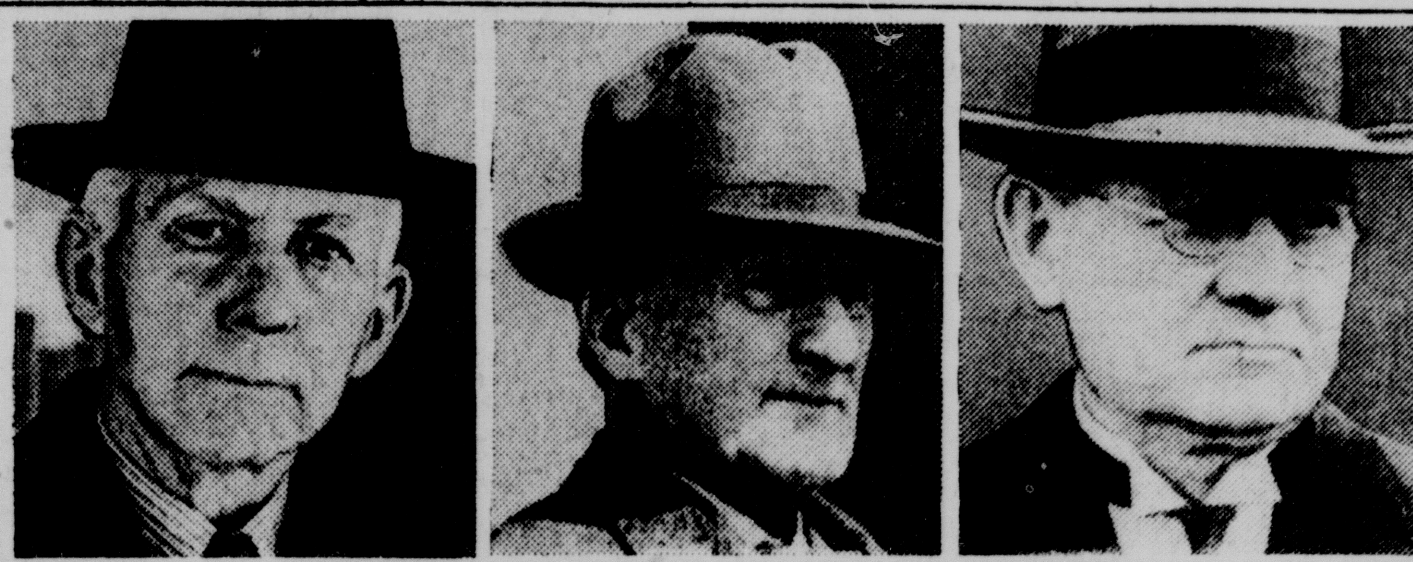

Why, then, enable a domestic industry, which can't possibly fill the bill, to expand itself to the point of bursting, to the injury of international trade, without accomplishing any particular good?

President Bittling of the U. S. S. C., however, avers that Cuba doesn't trade its sugar for Yankee goods—that it sells its sugar in the United States and does its buying in Japan and Germany and elsewhere. So that it isn't a two-way trade; it's multiplied and impossibly intricate.

Nine Men Whose "Yes" Or "No" May Change Nation's Destiny

Supreme Court building in Washington

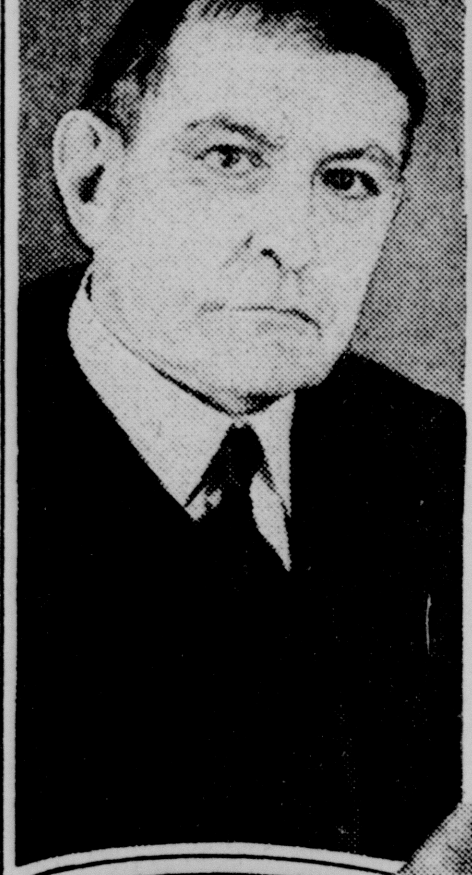

WILLIS VAN DEVANTER, just turned 78, is the senior member of the present court, having been appointed by President Taft in 1914. He formerly was chief justice of the Wyoming supreme court. He ranks as the most conservative of the conservative group.

JAMES CLARK McREYNOLDS, 75, is the bachelor member of the court. A native of Kentucky, he practiced law in Tennessee for many years. He is one of the outstanding conservatives.

PIERCE BUTLER, who practiced law for 35 years in St. Paul prior to his appointment to the supreme court in 1923, is 71. A corporation lawyer for years before his appointment, as was Charles Evans Hughes, Butler, in contrast to the chief justice, is classed as a conservative.

LOUIS D. BRANDEIS, probably the court's most colorful member, even at the age of 80, has served since 1916. He began practicing law in New England, after a year in St. Louis, and before long his practice grew like magic. Assailing the vested interests of New England, he soon became known as the people's counsel. He is the court's most advanced liberal. His nomination by President Woodrow Wilson was held up in the senate by conservatives. He is pictured here with Mrs. Brandeis.

OWEN J. ROBERTS, approaching 62, is the youngest member of the court. During much of his brilliant career as a Philadelphia lawyer, he was identified with substantial corporation interests. He gained nationwide fame as a special prosecutor of the notorious cases growing out of Teapot Dome. Aptly called the pendulum of the supreme court, time and again he has been the balance of power between the four so-called conservatives and the four so-called liberals.

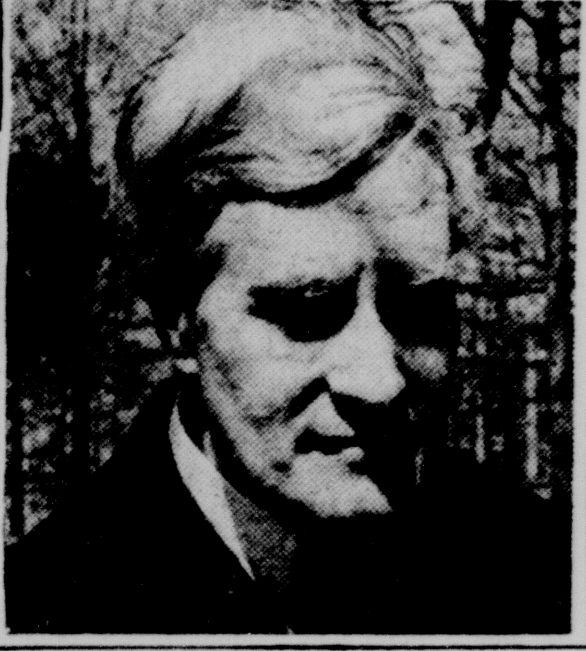

BENJAMIN N. CARDOZO, below, ex-chief justice of the New York court of appeals, is 66 and the newest member of the supreme court, having been appointed in 1932 by President Hoover when the senate refused to confirm a conservative nominee. Regarded by the bar as one of the greatest lawyers of his time, he is a steadfast liberal. He is the author of several widely read books.

The imposing supreme court chamber

HARLAN FISKE STONE, one-time attorney general of the U. S., and former dean of the Columbia University Law school, is 64. President Coolidge, seeking a disinterested man as attorney general following the Teapot Dome scandals, named him to the cabinet in 1924. Less than a year later, in 1925, he was named to the supreme court. He votes with the liberals and has been mentioned for the chief justiceship if Chief Justice Hughes should retire.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, eleventh chief justice of the highest United States tribunal, shown here with Mrs. Hughes, was appointed twice. Hughes attained early fame as a corporation lawyer, then was named as special prosecutor to clean up insurance companies in New York state, became governor on the strength of his success at that, then was appointed to the U. S. supreme court in 1910, by President Taft. He resigned in 1916 to run for the presidency as the Republican nominee against President Woodrow Wilson. Defeated, Hughes resumed corporation practice, then became secretary of state under President Harding, continuing under President Coolidge. He then was named chief justice by President Hoover in 1930. Confirmation was fought by senate liberals. Hughes, however, has voted chiefly with the court liberals.

GEORGE SUTHERLAND, the only foreign born member of the court (England), is 75. Formerly United States senator from Utah, he was named to the highest tribunal by President Harding in 1922. Sutherland invariably votes with the conservatives.

Ten Years Ago—Lindbergh Made His Historical Flight

Welcomed to England by the then Prince of Wales, now Duke of Windsor.

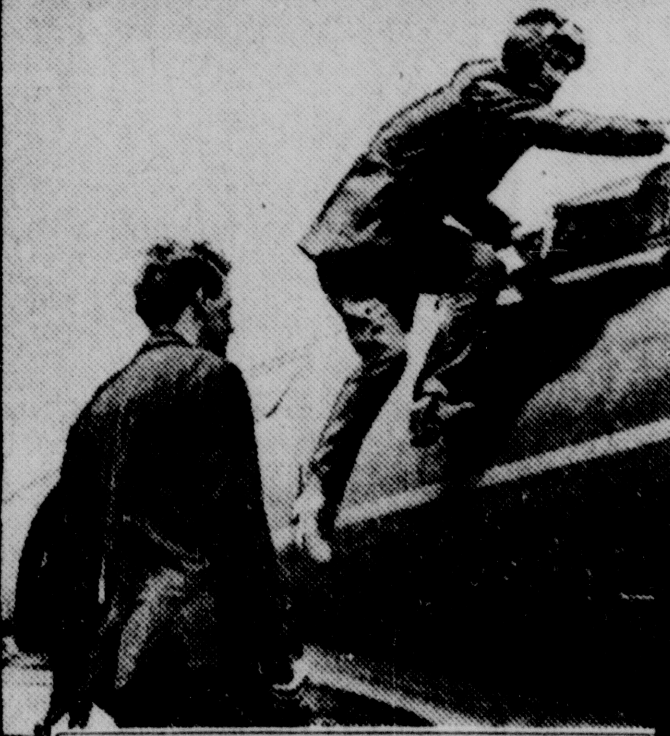

Capt. Charles Augustus Lindbergh, American aviator, hopped off from Roosevelt Field, L. I., New York, on May 20, 1927—10 years ago—on the first solo attempt at a New York-Paris transatlantic flight. He was successful, as all the world knows. The daring of the 25-year-old aviator, "Lindy," brought him world acclaim, the top rung in modern aviation history. Later, tragedy came in the kidnapping and slaying of an infant son, Charles A., Jr. This camera review gives in miniature the story of the daring flight.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE READY FOR OPENING

Four Games On Sunday As 1937 Season Starts

Despite Controversy Over Umpiring League Is Scheduled To Open Tomorrow

EIGHT TEAMS IN NEW LOOP

New Castle's newly organized city baseball league will open the 1937 season on Sunday afternoon at four city fields. There are eight teams in the league. The starting time of the games (weather permitting) will be 3 o'clock.

There are four fine ball games on the program. It is going to be hard to pick out any one game to attend. They will all be good. Three of the games are on the West Side and the fourth game is on the E. & A. field in the seventh ward.

Despite the controversy over the matter of umpires for the league, the games will be played, it is stated. The managers are going to pick men out of the crowd to handle the games. Both managers must be agreed on the selections. The managers are objecting to paying $2.50 each for umpires for seven-inning games and $3 for Sunday nine-inning games. The managers have offered the umpires $1.50 and $2 which is as much as the collections have warranted heretofore, they claim.

Four Good Games. Manager Charles Scaglione will take his South Side Board of Trade team to the Ryantown field to meet Joe Samuels and his Ryantownians. Neither manager would say today just who would take the rubber, but Scaglione intimated that he would probably string with Paul McCullough, former big leaguer. Samuels may send Carey or Coates to the mound.

Manager Joe Ziegler and his Sixth Ward Firemen will wait patiently for the coming of the Lawrence Industries team under Manager Zidow. Ziegler has been reticent about his lineup for this year, but rumors have it that he will put a strong team on the field. This game will start at 3 o'clock.

Ziegler may send Wylie Shiek out to seek his first victory of the year. The veteran Shiek will find that the Indies are tough stuff to handle. Just who would throw them for the Lawrence Industries was not announced by Manager Zidow.

The Colored Elks, under the direction of William J. Clark, will travel up to Glasser field to meet Lefty Maslyk's clever array of welders. Grey will probably pitch for the Elks, being opposed by Johnnie Carik. Glasser field will be a mecca for the fans of the Oakland District.

Need Sunshine. Down in the seventh ward at the E. & A. field, Andy DeGenova will take the wraps off of his West Pittsburgh 1937 edition and send them out to battle the Mahoning A. A. under Nick Calvanese. The West Pittsburgh pitching situation is clouded in mystery. DeGenova was not sure who would get the starting nod. Neither did the Mahonings reveal the identity of their starting "chucker".

With no Lawrence county league this year the city league will get the play from the fans. All that is needed to make the opening day a big success is a lot of nice warm sunshine.

Go ahead boys, PLAY BALL!

War Admiral Is Favored To Win Preakness Today

Pompoon Will Give War Admiral Close Race Is View Of Track Experts

(International News Service) BALTIMORE, May 15.—The racing strip for the 47th preakness was a govy mess today following an all-day drizzle that continued on thru the night, creating a virtual sea of mud that defied the shovels and draining tools of track workers at Pimlico.

As a result, it looked as if Samuel Riddle's vaunted War Admiral was in for some competition from among the eight horses named to start—one Pompoon, Jerry Louchheim's Pompey-Oenah, colt that took such a drubbing in the Kentucky Derby a week ago.

However, if the Pompoon followers were more hopeful, War Admiral's supporters were what might be called bank rolls to make things interesting.

As far as the before-the-race attention went, Flying Scot, Jewell Dorsett, Matey, Over the Top, Mermymaker and Mosawtre might just as well have not been entered. To the crowd the main thing was a settlement of the Derby argument between Pompoon and War Admiral in the $50,000 added preakness.

Despite the foul weather, track officials prepared to handle a crowd of about 45,000 and there were hopes of clear skies by the time the parade gets underway this afternoon.

Bob Feller Is Graduate Now

Gets Diploma At Van Meter, Iowa High School As 600 Farm Folks Look On (International News Service) CHICAGO, May 15.—Young Bob Feller was due to rejoin the Cleveland Indians pitching staff here at Coniskey Park today, bringing with him from his Van Meter, Ia., home the most publicized high school diploma in America.

The 18-year old strikeout artist received his diploma in the school auditorium last night at commencement exercises recorded by whirling news cameras and radio announcers.

Just when Feller can get off the injured list and do some pitching for the Indians remained problematical as his team waited to meet the White Sox here. Young Bob has a bally right wing that has kept him out of the lineup since it unhinged in his season starter against St. Louis April 24.

Ready In Few Days
"In just a few days my arm will be ready to toss 'em with the old speed," the youngster promised.

President Clarence Dunn of the Van Meter school board handed out the diplomas at last night's exercises while 600 admiring farm folk looked on.

A small lad in a baseball suit carried the diplomas to the auditorium stage in a basket shaped like a baseball.

A present from the graduating class, a large picture of Feller was unveiled on the second floor of the school. Bob, dressed in a new gray suit, in turn gave the school an athletic trophy case.

Money still talks, but it isn't saying much but "Ouch!"

Carnegie Tech and West Virginia golfers played to a 3 to 3 tie at Pittsburgh yesterday. The Tartans won three of the four singles bouts but the Mountaineers managed to bring about a stymie by taking both foursomes and one singles combat. Penn State's golf team won an eastern intercollegiate match from the Pitt Panthers at State College 7 to 2. John Bennett, State senior, made the best medal score with a 71, two over par. Bennett, in beating Frank Bonaroli, 6 and 5, had birdies on the 12th and 16th to shoot the second nine in an even par. The best match was between Jay Albert, Lion co-captain, and Frank Souchak. The latter had Albert one down in the first nine but the State golfer shot the incoming holes in one under par to win on the 17th green, 2 and 1. Duquesne won in golf from Geneva 6 to 3 by taking four of the six individual matches and two of the three best ball matches. The meet was held at the Ellwood City Country club, Ellwood City. Midendorf of Duquesne played Pennebaker and Frazier in two nine-hole rounds, winning from Pennebaker and losing to Frazier. He played twice because of the shortage of one man.

Tom Daveis has been signed as head football coach at St. Thomas college, Scranton. He succeeds Jack Harding, who will coach the University of Miami. Robert Jones, freshman coach at St. Thomas, will assist Daveis.

John Henry Lewis found Patsy Perroni an easy victim in their 10-round bout last night at New York. He won almost as he pleased. Perroni did not prove dangerous at any time.

Tudor Lewis, former star at Westminster college, was named head basketball coach today at Farrell high school. He succeeds William Ganapolski. Hank Day is head football coach at Farrell.

Coon hunters of Jefferson county, O., have organized and have arranged for a field meet to be held June 6 at the Hawthorne farm, state route 152, between Broadacre and Richmond, O.

Allegheny and Grove City college will meet in a track and field meet this afternoon at Meadville. Allegheny tracksters have recorded wins over Geneva and Hiram.

Judge Guy L. Fike in federal court at Newark yesterday denied Madison Square Garden's request for a temporary injunction to restrain Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock from fighting Joe Louis before meeting Max Schmeling. The decision apparently paved the way for the scheduled Louis-Braddock fight in Chicago on June 22.

DUQUESNE WINS

(International News Service) BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 15.—Using only five players, the Duquesne University golf team today held a 6-3 win over Geneva College, coupling four of the six individual matches and two of the best ball matches. Dean Chased By Pirate Sluggers In 14 To 4 Game

Pirates Fail To Quake When They Face 'Great Dizzy' This Year, Get 20 Hits

WANER GETS FOUR HITS IN CONTEST

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—The mighty Dizzy Dean was a much chastened lad today!

What the league-leading Pirates failed to do to Carl Hubbell on the day previous in New York they did to him. After dusting off the star Card hurler and sending him to the showers in the fourth inning for his first defeat this season in six starts, the rampaging Buccos proceeded then to polish off the entire Card squad.

When Pie Traynor's little boys had finished running around the bases the score stood 14 to 4. Every one of the 10 Pirates players, with the exception of Dicksdot, improved his batting practice, at the expense of four Card hurlers, with a total of 20 hits.

Joe Medwick, the Cards left-fielder, hit a home run.

Waner Gets Four
The mighty Paul Waner, holder of the National League batting title, helped himself to four hits out of five times at bat, and Forrest Jensen, center fielder, did likewise. Al Todd and Arky Vaughan, two more of the Bucco's hard hitters, were close behind him with three each.

The victory over Dean was particularly sweet for the Pirates, with memories of last year still fresh. The Bucco lads in '36 garnered for themselves a reputation of walking up to the plate, facing the mighty Dean, and then walking back to the dugout again—just like that. Out of seven games last year with the Cards pitched by Dean, the Pirates managed to win just one.

Grange Play Well Presented

Home Talent Presentation Pleases Large Audience At Pleasant Hill Grange

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—A capacity audience which assembled at the Pleasant Hill Grange hall, on the Ellwood-Portersville road, last evening, to witness a home talent play, was greatly pleased with the performance, it being presented in a smooth and finished manner.

"The Million-Dollar Butler" was the title of the presentation, and revolving about that theme many amusing and attention-holding incidents were portrayed.

The story begins when Beaumont Spencer, very well enacted by Chauncey Boots, inherits by a sophisticated actress, Elaine St. Claire, splendidly portrayed by Miss Frances Worrell, who he has never seen but has written love letters to her in his youth. The situations arising from this predicament and the many impersonations of characters make up the plot. The unscrupulous lawyer part was splendidly done by Eugene Fox.

All of the characters enacted their assigned roles in an outstanding manner and it would be impossible to select any one of the cast to be given the honors of the best performance. The most difficult roles, in the opinion of this writer, were taken by Mrs. Earl Friday, who played the part of a parent engaged for the occasion, and Otto Wagner, an imp from Africa, and they are to be congratulated for their fine performance, as are Mr. and Mrs. Claire Friday, who were given the roles of the butler and his correspondence club sweetheart.

Others in the cast who may add another laurel to their long list of performances are: Miss Edna Rob-erta, Miss Arie Wagner, Lester Wagner and Larry Friday. A full measure of credit for the complete success of the play is due Mrs. Jane Friday, lecturer of the Grange, who directed the comedy.

Between the acts string instrument selections and songs by Miss Betty Friday, Albert Boots, Eugene Fox and Otto Wagner were very well received.

Wandalism Will Not Be Tolerated

Chamber Of Commerce Moves To Put Halt To Depredations Here

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—In cooperation with the beautification program that is being displayed throughout the city by the city, school, library, corporations, merchants and private homes, the Chamber of Commerce is offering a reward of $25 to person or persons reporting destruction of property of the above named institutions.

Through its secretary, Denny Schill, Chamber officials stated that vandalism must stop immediately in the destruction of property and the children made to realize the value of a town beautifully developed. The Chamber further stated that children caught deliberately destroying property will be brought into court and the parents will be heavily fined. The city council and school board and other institutions are spending too much money to have a few uncontrolled children think they can continue the tactics they have displayed in the past.

Parents are urged to lecture their children about this matter, as they will be held responsible for their children's actions by the city officials.

Guidance Work To Be Given In Ellwood School

School Board Adopts Plan Of Superintendent For Additional Class

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Guidance work will be a definite class in the Lincoln high school in the next school term as a result taken by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Thursday night following a recommendation by Superintendent of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong. The recommendation was as follows:

Several months ago in a committee meeting of the entire board I outlined to you some of the changes which we felt would improve our school system. One of the proposed changes was to use a six period day of approximately sixty minutes each. Instead of the present seven period day of forty-eight minutes each. There were two reasons for this change:

1. We feel that we need to introduce a regular period once each week so that information of a guidance nature may be discussed with the pupils.

2. We want to reduce the size of the groups which must use the auditorium for study hall purposes. Obviously a change from a seven to a six period day will require more teachers and more class rooms. So before our discussion of this matter, I had made as accurate a forecast of our 1937-38 situation as possible. It seemed at that time that if we were to have three more 7B groups remain in the elementary buildings, we could operate a six period day with our present Lincoln staff. This was based upon a probable load of regular classes. Our election cards are now in and we will need 241 more pupils signing up. We believe, this difference is due, for five subjects instead of four and to classes where the enrollment is just too large for a smaller number of classes. These eleven additional classes would require two more teachers. It would also mean that every classroom would need to be used every period. This is practically impossible for the schedule can not always be arranged with an equal number of classes each period. It would also mean that we would have no margin for safety.

Consequently we feel that it would be unwise to continue with plans for a six period day at this time. We believe however, that we can still achieve some of the advantages desired by doing the following:

1. By shortening the periods 6 minutes on alternate Tuesday mornings and 8 minutes on alternate Tuesday afternoons we can provide a 24-minute period weekly for guidance work. This will be just as good as the original proposal.

2. By keeping the three 7B groups in other buildings, we will be able to have a study hall in 307, 108-9, and 14-15 each period. This will relieve the auditorium of 270 to 300 pupils each period and will make a much better study hall situation than we have had before.

3. We believe that we will also be able to have regular spelling work in the seventh and eighth grade in addition to the time provided in the English period. This improvement is very much needed.

We expect in this manner to achieve the advantages desired without adopting a program which does not provide any opportunity for handling unexpected enrollments.

Plan To Keep High School Band Intact Throughout Summer Is Approved

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Ellwood City High School band will be an organized unit throughout the year according to an action taken by the Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting in its rooms of the Lincoln High School Thursday night.

The recommendation to this effect by Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong was unanimously accepted by the board. It was as follows:

There have been situations each summer in which our band should have participated. Some times it was impossible to get them together and on other occasions even though they did appear, they were out of practice and did not perform as they should.

In order that our band may be available throughout the summer for community use and so that it may be in good shape when school begins in the Fall, it is our recommendation that Mr. Winter be employed for the equivalent of one month during the summer at a salary of $150.00. This service shall be distributed over at least two months time.

Anniversary Of Gettysburg To Be Celebrated

State And Federal Commission Arranging Big Celebration Next Year

BOOKLET TELLS OF PLANS MADE

Observance of the 75th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, and the final reunion of the surviving veterans on both sides in this stupendous battle, will be observed in 1938.

In order to bring about a celebration of national-wide magnitude, a state and federal commission has been appointed by Governor George H. Earle and President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in whose hands the plans for the event now rest.

The state commission is headed by Senator John S. Rice, chairman; Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Adjutant General Frederick B. Kerr, Col. Victor C. Mather, Hon. William S. McLean, Gerald P. O'Neill, Hon. William A. Schnader and General Edward C. Shannon.

Recall 50th Reunion
The federal commission consisted of Secretary of War George H. Dern, Hon. Hugh L. White, governor of Missouri, Hon. Joseph F. Guffey, senator from Pennsylvania, Hon. Harry L. Haines, congressman of Pennsylvania, and Hon. Marvin Jones, congressman from Texas.

For a number of years various attempts have been made to bring the surviving Veterans of the War of 1861-1865 together in a final and joint reunion. In 1913 more than 50,000 veterans of the North and South, who met in that titanic struggle, the three days battle of Gettysburg, met in joint reunion at Gettysburg. Governor John K. Tener at that time invited all the veterans of the Civil War to return to Gettysburg 25 years hence. In a spirit of patriotic enthusiasm the veterans accepted.

The 1935 session of the Pennsylvania legislature appropriated $15,-

000 for preliminary expenses of the commission to formulate plans for the 75th anniversary celebration of the battle and the reunion of the surviving veterans on both sides.

To Dedicate Memorial

During the reunion there will be dedicated and unveiled a huge "Eternal Light Peace Memorial" dedicated to the memory of every man, woman and child, North and South, who participated in any way in the war between the states. It will be a perpetual symbol of peace. The legislature of each state in the Union is being requested to appropriate $5,000 towards the construction of the memorial.

Every night of the year a light atop this monument will glow as a symbol of peace, unity, harmony and good fellowship in these United States.

The event is now being advertised by a beautiful booklet calling attention to the anniversary next year and the final reunion of these surviving veterans of the war between the states.

The booklet contains numerous beautiful pictures showing battle locations and monuments, along with other data.

Only the three day marriage license stopped New Castle from getting an international wedding this week. Howard M. Nedeau listed as a salesman of Connerville, Indiana and Miss Margaret A. Pulvermacher, listed as a journalist of London, England, applied for a license and got it.

They wanted to get married right away but the court was not sitting and permission could not be secured. They finally decided to go on to Indiana where they could get married the same day they got their license.

Mr. Nedeau has been the European representative of an American motor car company for many years while Miss Pulvermacher is the daughter of the associate editor of the London Times and has been a foreign correspondent for the Times. Mr. Nedeau had an important business engagement in Indiana which prohibited his waiting the required three days.

After ten years of service in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, Miss Lillian Price, a deputy has resigned. Today is her last day of service and tomorrow she and her mother Mrs. John M. Price of North Shenango street leave for Cleveland, O., where they will reside. Miss Price has been a courteous efficient deputy and will be missed.

Another county employee who has resigned to return to private industry is John J. Madigan of the welfare office. For the present it is possible that his work will be handled by the county commissioners. He was in the welfare office for several years.

In the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna the following letters have been administered:

A number of wills have been admitted for probate in the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna.

The will of the late Joseph C. Stoltz of New Castle leaves his entire estate to his daughter Hazel I. Rodgers.

Two wills were probated here from other cities in order to establish title to realty in this county. In one case two wills were probated, one of Gottlieb Steiner of Pittsburgh and that of Grace Steiner of Pittsburgh. The other will is that of the late George J. Renner, Jr., of Youngstown, O.

The will of Sylvester Gage leaves his estate to his wife, Katherine Gage.

The will of the late Mary Emma Falls leaves $1000 each to two granddaughters, Virginia Bartle and Muriel Constance Woodworth. The balance of the estate goes to a daughter Helen Woodworth.

Seniors To Appear In Play, May 20

Important Roles Taken By Estelle Cukerbaum And George Large

When the senior class play, "Skidding", is presented to the public Thursday evening, May 20, two popular members of the June graduating class will be seen in featured parts.

Estelle Cukerbaum is cast as Estelle Hardy Campbell, the older of the two married Hardy daughters. Young Mrs. Campbell is an excitable person who is quite certain that her husband is paying more attention to business than to her. She goes "home to mother" and, becoming involved in several domestic mix-ups, is finally convinced that her husband does love her. So she returns to him, not a sadder, but decidedly a wiser woman!

"Cookie" needs no introduction to the high school audience having already appeared as Irene Trevor in "Seven Chances" and as Florence Cole in "A Pair of Sixes". She is a member of the French club, Leaders' club, Etiquette club, and Senatus Romanus; her name is constantly on the honor roll. Miss Cukerbaum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cukerbaum of 401 Laurel boulevard.

George Large has been chosen for the excellent character role of Grandpa Hardy. Grandpa is a lovable, quaint old soul; some of his peculiarities add a fine touch of humor to "Skidding". It is he who unconsciously points the way for his granddaughter, Marion, and thus effects the happy ending.

George is a hall patrol, a member of the Rifle club, and captain of the assembly squad. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Large of 423 Northview avenue.

Orders were issued by the city of New Castle that persons responsible for work on the buildings in East Washington street which were damaged by fire erect an overhead barricade to protect pedestrians using the sidewalk.

It was noticed yesterday that a depression had been repaired in front of the St. Cloud fire ruins. According to reports made to police two women fell there before the depression was filled.

Not long ago a story in this column said that the state department was stretching cables through the guard rails in Rural avenue. It should have read city streets department. The work almost has been completed.

AROUND CITY HALL

Glenn R. Throop, city engineer, stated today that rain during the past several days interfered seriously with improvement of streets and avenues in the city.

It is possible that when council convenes Monday they may award a contract for the purchase of materials to be used in the improvement of streets. The total cost will be about $27,000, according to officials.

Attractions For Season's Program Will Be Announced
In Short Time

Tonight marks the close of the campaign for members for the Civic Music Association. The headquarters of the campaign have been on the north west corner of Mercer and North streets and this office will be open until ten o'clock tonight.

The Civic Music Association is a co-operative affair by which it is made possible to secure for the city attractions of unusual ability. One of the artists already guaranteed for next season is Ezio Pinza, bass-baritone of the Metropolitan.

Others being considered are the National Symphony with Hans Kindler, conducting, Trudy Schoop and her comic ballet, Mischa Levitska, the Levines and a number of others.

Persons interested in the idea who have not been called upon still have time to sign up at the Civic Music headquarters before ten o'clock tonight.
